CAMBRIDGE
Thursday, September 10
This morning, enjoy a guided walking tour of Cambridge’s city center. Marvel at the combination of old and new architecture and the pristinely preserved ancient core of the city while strolling down medieval streets and through college courts and lush gardens.

Visit Emmanuel College’s peaceful and extensive grounds where the buildings range from the medieval to the late 20th century and the gardens have manicured lawns, magnificent and rare trees and tranquil ponds just outside the vibrant city center. The highlight of the grounds is the Baroque Wren Chapel, whose Tudor Style and Corinthian capitals are linked by a frieze of garlands. Emmanuel College holds significance in the history of American higher education as John Harvard was a graduate and was the first benefactor for Harvard University.

Stop for a tea and coffee break in the famous 14th-century Eagle Pub to sit where Watson and Crick announced to the world they had discovered “the secret of life”—DNA. Look at the ceiling where RAF pilots from all over the world, who returned from two world wars, signed their names on the ceiling using only cigarette lighters, candle smoke and lipstick.

Visit the world-famous King’s College Chapel, a splendid example of late Gothic, perpendicular architecture, begun in 1446 by Henry VI and completed over a century later. The chapel has some of the finest medieval stained glass and the largest fan-vaulted ceiling in the world. On Christmas Eve each year, the Festival of Nine Lessons and Carols service is broadcast from here to all points around the world.

The afternoon is free to pursue individual interests. You can partake in the English tradition of punting on the River Cam in a flat-bottomed boat that does not have a keel and is propelled by means of a long pole. Punts were first used as pleasure crafts in Edwardian times, and have since become one of the most popular ways to see the famous bridges and colleges along the banks. Or you can explore the University Museum of Zoology and its fascinating Darwin Collection.

CAMBRIDGE
Friday, September 11
After breakfast, depart for Madingley. En route, pass Newnham, Selwyn, Robinson and Churchill Colleges, and the recently developed west Cambridge expansion to see its research departments and the computer science laboratory, partially funded by the William Gates Foundation.

Visit the solemn grounds of the Cambridge American Cemetery and Memorial, the only World War II American Cemetery in Britain, containing the remains of fallen American military members, most of whom died in the Battle of the Atlantic during World War II.

Upon your return to Cambridge, enjoy a guided walking tour along the peaceful River Cam, seeing and visiting some of the oldest and largest colleges in Cambridge, and see the impressive buildings of Sidney Sussex College, founded in 1596. Former Cambridge students include Charles, Prince of Wales; Lord Byron; Charles Darwin; and Stephen Hawking.

The remainder of the afternoon is free to pursue individual interests in this historic city.
CAMBRIDGE
Saturday, September 11
Following breakfast, check out of the hotel and depart for what was once Britain’s best kept secret, the iconic World War II code-breaking site which performed astonishing achievements said to have shortened the war by two years. At historic Bletchley Park, learn about the crucial code-breaking skills of the top secret cryptographers, whom Sir Winston Churchill famously described as the “geese that laid the golden eggs and never cackled,” and the Hollerith punch-card machines that carried out rapid analysis of encrypted message systems to assist the code breakers. Following an introductory tour and explanation of the German Enigma machine’s history and function, enjoy time to independently explore the building’s museums and grounds.
